Contract for Publication

(When notified of his/her work's acceptance, and as a condition of publication, the AUTHOR signs two copies and submits them to the College of Charleston, a/k/a the “College,” through its duly authorized agent, who will sign and return one copy.)

I, __________________ (full name), the AUTHOR, for the scholarly publishing and publicity associated therewith as a type of consideration, along with other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and adequacy of which is hereby acknowledged, hereby give permission to the College of Charleston, through its publication, Hispanic Studies Review, also known as the PUBLISHER, to publish an original work by the AUTHOR entitled

_______________________________________________________________________________________________

(name of work)

The AUTHOR confirms that the work is completely his/her own and that it has not been published previously, nor is it or any part of it presently being considered for publication by anyone other than Hispanic Studies Review.

The AUTHOR confirms that the work is his/her own and not plagiarized, and does not infringe upon the trademark or copyright of others in any way. The AUTHOR also agrees to use reasonable care to ensure that the work does not violate the rights of privacy or libel or infringe upon the rights of any person.

The AUTHOR will defend, indemnify and hold harmless the Editor, Managing Editors, Publisher, and the College of Charleston, its officers, employees, and agents, regarding any expenses or damages resulting from the contents of the work, including attorneys fees and costs.

The AUTHOR grants full permission to the College, through its agents, to correct any and all typographical errors in the AUTHOR'S work before publication. The work is due from the AUTHOR by ____________________________ (date).

The College reserves the right to delay publication of the aforementioned work until the AUTHOR corrects all necessary errors in style, bibliography, works cited, and general content upon request of the College. In addition, the AUTHOR agrees to limit further revisions of the article to those explicitly suggested by the editorial staff of the College, including, for example, spelling and punctuation mistakes or to the correction of facts. Any modification beyond those addressed above may result in a pronounced delay in the publication of the essay or a direct rejection of the article, at the discretion of the College. The College reserves the right to reject the article for any or no reason, in the sole discretion of the College.

In exchange for and in consideration of the above consideration and publication, the College, hereafter, shall have serial rights to the work, for thirty (30) days following first publication.

Finally, if the AUTHOR decides to re-publish the work (e.g., a book chapter), any re-publication must cite Hispanic Studies Review as the original source.

__________________________________________  __________________________________________
AUTHOR                                        COLLEGE OF CHARLESTON

Signed: _________________________________      Signed: _________________________________
Printed Name: __________________________    Printed Name: __________________________
Date: ________________________________        Date: ________________________________

OLA 11.1.16